

ROTARY CLUB OF COROWA

PRESIDENT: PAUL MOWLAM

WEEKLY BULLETIN

PRINTED 14/05/2012
VOLUME 73 ISSUE 41

Last meeting Guest speaker Mark McKenzie, marketing manager for Rivalea gave us an interesting insight to the marketing strategies of the company. Mark has a background in farming and jackerooing in South Australia. After some time with Glaxo, he spent 5 years in the marketing department of CSL before joining QAF (now Rivalea) some 41/2 years ago. Sales are about to-day, marketing is about to-morrow's sales. A thorough understanding of consumer behaviour and shopping trends is essential to be able to sell a product that takes 12 months to bring to a marketable stage. Mark's talk was very well received with many questions following.

A blonde spent 20 minutes looking at the orange juice box because it said - concentrate.

A blonde told me to meet her at the corner of WALK & DON'T WALK.

Another blonde put lipstick on her forehead because she wanted to make up her mind.

A rather attractive woman goes up to the bar in a quiet pub. She gestures alluringly to the bartender who comes over immediately. When he arrives, she seductively signals that he should bring his face closer to hers.

When he does so, she begins to gently caress his beard which is full and bushy. "Are you the manager?" she asks, softly stroking his face now with both hands.

"Actually, no." he replies.

"Can you get him for me - I need to speak to him" she asks, running her hands up beyond his beard and into his full head of hair.

"I'm afraid I can't" breathes the bartender -- clearly aroused. "Maybe there's something I can do for you?"

"Yes there is. I need you to give him a message" she continues seductively, popping a couple of fingers into his mouth and allowing him to suck them gently.

She slowly continues, "Tell him..... that there..... is no toilet paper in the ladies room."

Four Catholic women were having coffee.

The first tells her friends, "My son is a priest. When he walks into a room, everyone calls him 'Father.'

The second woman chirps, "My son is a bishop. Whenever he walks into a room, people call him 'Your Grace.' "

The third says, "Well, my son is a cardinal. Whenever he walks into a room, people say 'Your Eminence.' "

The fourth Catholic woman sips her coffee for a moment, smiles and says, "My son is a gorgeous, 6' 2", hard-bodied stripper. Whenever he walks into a room, people say, 'Oh, my God.... ' "

A pretty blonde got lost in her car in a terrible snow storm. She remembered what her dad had once told her, "If you ever get stuck in a snow storm, wait for a snow plow and follow.

Pretty soon a snow plow came by, and she started to follow it.

She followed the plow for about forty-five minutes.

Finally, the driver of the truck got out and asked her what she was doing.

She explained that her dad had told her if she ever got stuck in the snow, to follow a plow.

The driver nodded and said, "Well, I'm done with the Wal-Mart parking lot. Now you can follow me over to K-Mart!"
